

MARKET PICKS UP ON FIRST REAL RALLY IN WEEK

NEW YORK, July 21.—For the first time in more than a week a fairly general advance in stocks was witnessed. The movement made largely at the expense of a formidable bear faction, embraced all the potential leaders and many minor stocks and other issues recently under heavy pressure.

Prices at the outset were down some substantial declines following the close of the London market, where Americans were lower. At noon the market swung around and rumors of freight rate decision, with hurried retreat if unwieldy short interests followed. Gains of one to two points were recorded in less than an hour. Crop news lifted with betterment, nearly all advices being of a most hopeful character. Canadian Pacific's rally was accelerated by the high wheat average reported. Bonds were steadier. Denver and Rio Grande refunding issues advanced 1-2 percent. Total sales $1,350,000.

PAINE WEBBER LETTER

(By Overlook)

BOSTON, July 21.—There was a noticeable change in sentiment for the better today, quite a demand for stocks resulting in better prices for general list, but as yet, the volume of business is still small. Comment is chiefly on the coming rate decision and with that out of the way better things will be talked of, such as large crops and improvements in the steel industry. Believe the market to be a purchase on all reactions. Ray Consolidated production for June 6,256,536 pounds copper. Total sales New York 294,400; Money 7 1-4 per cent. Metal 17 3-4.

GHASTLY BLUE ISLAND MURDERS FIT IN CHAIN OF KILLINGS LAID TO A MANIAC

Mislich cottage in Blue Island, Ill., where murders were perpetrated; Jacob Mislich and Mrs. Martha Mansfield, two of the victims.

One theory held by the police in connection with the murder at Blue Island, Ill., early last Monday, is that the crime was committed by a maniacal man who is going across the country, leaving behind him a trail of victims as they sleep. Fourteen such murders have been committed in the middle west during the past three years. The victims of the Blue Island murder were: Jacob Mislich, sixty-six years old; his wife, fifty-five years old; his daughter, Martha Mansfield, twenty-one years old, and his granddaughter, Marie Mansfield, seven months old.

Andreas Höfer—The Inn-keeper Patriot of Switzerland

TO THIS peasant-leader Liberty was as much the breath of life as it is to the strong-winged eagles of the Alps. To achieve it for himself and his mountain brothers he gladly laid down his life. No less a personality than Napoleon vanquished him, and it was because he feared him that the Great Emperor ordered Höfer shot. Every atom of Andreas Höfer loved Liberty. He demanded it for himself and willingly gave it to others. In this respect he is no different than are our millions of Swiss citizens. Personal and National Liberty to those of Swiss blood is a religion. To a man they will fight for it, and to a man they will die for it. When asked to vote for Prohibition they do as would do the great patriot Höfer—VOTE AGAINST IT. "Thou shalt NOT eat this—thou shalt NOT drink that" is insolent legislation to those of Swiss blood. Anheuser-Busch are proud to serve their thousands of Swiss patrons. For 57 years the Swiss people have been moderate users of their honesty-brewed beers. BUDWEISER is a favorite wherever these folk are found. Seven thousand, five hundred people are daily required to meet the constantly increasing demand for BUDWEISER. Its sales exceed those of any other beer by millions of bottles. ANHEUSER-BUSCH • ST. LOUIS, U.S.A.

ALABAMA NEGRO IS UP FOR SENTENCE OF DEATH EIGHT TIMES

ANNISTON, Ala., July 21.—Probably without a parallel in the annals of American courts is the remarkable case of Ervin Pope, the Alabama negro who has just appeared in court and for the eighth time listened to the reading of the death warrant and heard the date set for his execution. For five years the negro has been in jail under conviction for the murder of J. B. McClurkin, a white man living near the town of Oxford. He has been convicted and sentenced to hang five times; the case has been before the supreme court and reversed four times, and eight different days have been set for the execution. Through it all the negro's nerve has never shaken. From the day of his arrest he has maintained his innocence of the crime charged against him and has expressed confidence in his ultimate acquittal.

The murder of McClurkin occurred on the night of April 19, 1909. About midnight the victim was awakened by the noise of someone robbing his cotton gin. He got up, saddled his mule and followed the robber's wagon toward Oxford. The next morning his body was found horribly mutilated in a cotton patch on the edge of the town. In an alley in a negro settlement he had evidently been hit in the head with a heavy club, and his skull beaten in with a large stone.

Ervin Pope lived in the town of Oxford about a mile from where the body was found. He owned a little farm in the country and also run a little restaurant in town. It was proved that on the afternoon preceding the murder Pope was at the mill owned and operated by McClurkin and had exchanged corn for meal. The principal witness for the State was a negro, John Body, in front of whose door the murder was committed. Body testified that on the night of the

Mrs. Herman Oelrichs has driven the newspaper camera men and other photographers away from the vicinity of the Casino at Newport, the famous watering place. The lady was snatched by a Boston newspaper photographer a few days ago. He was taken to police headquarters and there made to give Mrs. Oelrichs the plate. Her appeal for police protection led to the banishment of the camera men.

on the night of April 19, 1909. About midnight the victim was awakened by the noise of someone robbing his cotton gin. He got up, saddled his mule and followed the robber's wagon toward Oxford. The next morning his body was found horribly mutilated in a cotton patch on the edge of the town. In an alley in a negro settlement he had evidently been hit in the head with a heavy club, and his skull beaten in with a large stone.

Ervin Pope lived in the town of Oxford about a mile from where the body was found. He owned a little farm in the country and also run a little restaurant in town. It was proved that on the afternoon preceding the murder Pope was at the mill owned and operated by McClurkin and had exchanged corn for meal. The principal witness for the State was a negro, John Body, in front of whose door the murder was committed. Body testified that on the night of the murder he was awakened by the sound of screams and blows in the alley. He claimed to have come to the door, opened it and looked out, and swore that he saw two men struggling, and heard a voice say, "Ervin, Ervin." A blacksmith testified that he discovered the track of a wagon leading from the scene of the murder to Pope's house. Later a pair of shoes said to show traces of blood were found in an outhouse in Pope's yard. On this evidence, all of it circumstantial, the negro was tried and convicted.

John Body, the negro in front of whose house the murder was committed, was arrested and held on suspicion. After Pope's conviction, Body was released. He immediately abandoned his crop and family and ran off, and all trace of him has been lost. The State and the defense have both made efforts to find him, but they have failed.

The lawyers for Pope have contended from the start that Body was the guilty man. Their theory is based on the seeming improbability of Body's story on the fact that the murder was in front of Body's door; that the club with which McClurkin was killed came from a woodpile in Body's yard; that the murderer had taken pains to drag the body away from Body's door; that Pope had no one there when the murder was committed; that Body had a wagon which exactly corresponded to the tracks found at the scene of the crime; that barefoot tracks were found at the scene of the murder, as if Body had gotten out of bed and committed the murder; and that the cotton seed which was stolen from McClurkin's gin on the night of the killing was found in an outhouse just back of Body's house.

At the first trial the court permitted a negro witness to describe his own conduct and actions as proof that Pope was guilty. The supreme court held that this was an unfair and improper way to proceed against the accused and ordered a new trial. The second appeal was granted on the ground that the defendant had a right to have Body's guilt considered by the jury, and that the State could not introduce illegal evidence to clear Body. By a singular accident, the court repeated at the third trial the identical error it had committed at the second trial and this resulted in the third reversal of the conviction. The verdict found at the fourth trial, was reversed by the supreme court on a point of law. On the fifth trial Pope was again convicted and sentenced to hang. The supreme court has now handed down a decision affirming the verdict of the trial court. Nothing short of a forensic elusiveness or the discovery of new evidence tending to prove his innocence can now save Pope from the gallows. He is under sentence to be executed on the twenty-first of next month.

Cattle prices at Chicago reached a record point when choice heaves sold for $10. This price is the highest ever paid there in July and is a top point for the year. Hogs touched $9, the highest level in months.
